

REMARKS

The present claims more clearly define the invention and as such are believed to be more patentably distinct than those in the parent application.

A three-month extension of time and associated fees are filed herewith to extend the due date from October 19, 2007 to January 19, 2008.

In view of these claims, it is submitted that the present patent application is now in condition for examination and such is earnestly solicited.

Respectfully submitted,

Gregory N. Clements
